Peachland Little Schoolhouse

2021 Annual Summer Art Program

The Peachland Community Arts Council sponsors this annual event.

We feature artists and artisans in the nine-week program.

COVID 19 has altered some of our procedures, but we are prepared to safely welcome visitors to our little gallery. Come and visit the artists, pick up some painting or quilting tips, or buy yourself an original painting.

The Program opens this year with a big "Art Blow-out Sale", Friday to Sunday. Our local artists are offering their work at bargain prices, as well as "slightly used" art supplies, art cards, and unframed paintings as well. Don't miss this one!

The Pincushion Quilters will join us this year. This is a good opportunity to see some spectacular quilting; maybe even some fabric art. Visit them for quilting tips and watch the ladies at work.

Faye Belanger, Eleatha Reniers, and Vera Rezansoff are members of the "Passion 4 Art" group. All three work with acrylic in a variety of subjects. A fun group; visit and watch them paint.

Wayne Power will offer three workshops in three mediums this week, pastels, acrylic and watercolor. Peek in and watch the class; 1 - 4 pm. Or visit in the morning and see his work.

Bob Jenkins will bring his wonderfully-detailed pastels of abandoned mining sites, discarded machinery, and lost history of the BC back country. Sandra Kessler's work is an interesting contrast of mixed media pieces, ethereal and charming. Two professional artists.

August Wednesday to Saturday

Christine Millar and Millie Winston, are members of the Peachland Art Group; both are serious painters. Chris is inclined to use mixed media in her work, and Millie constantly surprises with her ability to get "into the subject".

Sharon McPhee and Jackie Lingard will spend their time in the Little Schoolhouse visiting and painting; drop in and see the results of their "challenge".

Paula and Peter McLaughlin have invited Terry Moore to join them again this year. Maybe Terry will bring some of his sculptures; Peter will amaze with his take on a variety of subjects, and Paula may even display her macramé. Each has many talents and is generous in sharing them; definitely worth a visit to view their work.
